THE WORLD CAN BE YOUR CAMPUS.

Students on the ORU Campus earn an excellent degree – Online Learning delivers that same degree to anyone, anywhere. Whether an adult student, a student abroad, a working professional or a student entering college for the first time – ORU's individualized Online Learning degree programs provide a complete academic experience for the proactive students who require study options beyond a traditional college experience.

With nine undergraduate majors in our accredited program, ORU provides a rigorous learning context comparable to on-campus study in two 7-week terms per semester for either part-time (1 course per term) or full-time (2 courses per term) status. From Business Administration, Government and Leadership Studies to Communication, Biblical Literature, Church Ministries and Christian Caregiving and Counseling, our on-campus programs translate seamlessly online. Each is under the auspices of their respective academic college, providing Online Learning students access to full-time faculty, as well as interaction through online resources. The dedicated advisory staff supplies a personal connection for each student and helps guide them through course selection, registration, financial aid, professor liaisons and individual needs.
