

Faculty Profile - Ms. Alison Pringle

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND CULTURAL STUDIES

BALLET I

Ms. Allison Pringle is a professor for Ballet I in the Music department

Ms. Pringle, a former professional ballerina, received her training from Marsha Woody Zummo; School of American Ballet in NYC, San Francisco Ballet School, Houston Ballet Academy, and North Carolina School of the Arts. Allison went on to a professional career and performed with the Houston Ballet, Sacramento Ballet, and Tulsa Ballet Theatre. She is currently an adjunct professor of dance at ORU.

About the Course

In this course, we will study classical ballet techniques with an emphasis on developing a proper foundation in body alignment, technique, vocabulary, and artistry. A focus on important classical and neoclassical works will be discussed as well as the dancers and choreographers who have provided the art of dance with a lasting legacy.
