COMPOSITION 101

Ms. Baker responded to a vision of teaching that God gave her when she was a student at Princeton University. Ms. Baker has taught high school English in New Jersey, completed her masters at Colorado State, and taught Composition to college students in Hong Kong, Colorado, and since 2009, at ORU.

About the Course

Students today are experts at writing - in texts and posts - but college requires fluency in a different dialect: Academic English. Become fluent in writing, not stuffy verbose prose, but forceful, concise, persuasive, and, yes, correct essays. The course includes afternoon sessions in the Writing Center.
