Humanizing Your Online Course

Research suggests that building a strong sense of connectedness in an online course promotes student success, engages students, and retains students. This requires that you establish a strong teaching presence within the course, and that you create structures for students to form a community. In this workshop, we discuss strategies to make your online course more personal and techniques to build faculty and student presence in your online course.

Assessments

After successfully completing this week's assignments, you should be able to:
 4.3 Evaluate a manager's approach to leadership based on theory (Project 4).

Project 4: Leadership Interview

- Introduction: In this project, students will develop and conduct an interview with someone at least one level above their position to determine the individual's approach to leadership.
- Directions: Students will evaluate an interview with a leader, based on leadership theory. If you need to do a remote interview, use your ORU Zoom account to meet and record the session.
- Using the questions you develop, create a short interview guide of 7 questions to help you understand your selected leader's primary approach and philosophy of leadership.
 - Conduct the interview. Determine their leadership orientation and consider how that has influenced their managerial skills. Take good notes.
 - Write a 4-page essay to describe the leader, the interview, and key quotes that allow you to explain how events, opportunities, and/or crisis may have shaped this leader's theory and influenced their team's development.
 - Describe how that leader operates within the models and theories of leadership they have learned in this course.
 - Include your interview questions an Appendix to your report.
 - Your paper should be 4-pages in length, written in APA Style, with at least 3 citations.

Learning Objectives

Learning objectives are stated clearly, are written from the learner's view, and are prominently located in the module.

Unit 2: OVERVIEW

This unit begins with assigned readings exploring the founding and structure of the American government system. We continue looking for evidence of Biblical Christian influence in American government by examining the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution (Gaddie and Dye 2018, Chapter 3). Then, we begin to dig more deeply into the details of the unique system of government in the United States by exploring federalism (Gaddie and Dye 2018, Chapter 4). Additionally, you will engage with primary sources of American history in order to comfortably examine historical facts for yourself, not simply through the interpretation of others.

After successfully completing this unit's assignments, you should be able to:

- Identify the Biblical principles embedded in the Bill of Rights (Forum 2).
- Recall the basic structure of federalism in American government (Quiz 2).
- Examine primary sources relevant to the Constitution and federalism (Project 2a).
- Select appropriate civic engagement activity (Project 2b).

Assessments

The assessments measure the achievement of the stated learning objectives.

After successfully completing this week's assignments, you should be able to:

- Examine how electoral structures influence campaign strategies and interest group activity (Forum 4)

Forum 4: Electoral College Reform

On four occasions in American history, the winner of the Electoral College vote, and thus the presidential election, did not with the popular vote – 1876, 1888, 2000, and 2016. Each time, discussions of reform are prompted by those who did not prefer the final result – in the name of democracy, of course. Some of the suggested possibilities for reform are discussed at the end of Chapter 8 (Gaddie and Dye 2018).

In your thread, consider the following questions: Should the Electoral College be reformed or eliminated? If not, why not? If you believe reform should take place, share your preferred reform and explain your reasoning. Remember to use appropriate evidence to justify your position. Chapters 2 and 3 (Gaddie and Dye 2018) may also be helpful in your search for evidence.

Alignment Grid

Assessments should be sequenced, varied, and suited to the level of the learners.

	Program Outcomes (PO)	Course Objectives (CO)	Weekly Objectives (WO)	Assessment
WEEK 1	PO2. (g) An ability to analyze the local and global impact of computing on individuals, organizations, and society (BL4)	CO1. Know the impact of HCI on society, the economy and culture. (BL2, PO2) CO2. Analyze the fundamental principles of interface design. (BL4, PO15)	1.1 Explain how practical guidelines and good practices improve user interfaces (BL2, CO1).	Forum 1 Design Challenges (BL2, WO 1.1)
	PO15. (o) An ability to solve real world problems informed by a Christian worldview (BL3)		1.2 Analyze and compare design alternatives (BL4, CO2)	Project 1 Web Site Critique (BL4, WO 1.2)

Weekly Calendar

Week 1: OVERVIEW

The focus of this week is on critical thinking through reading, viewing, and writing. You will be able to explore different texts through active reading strategies and evaluate the authors' ideas by applying critical reading skills. During this week, you will also start looking at how to begin the writing process and begin your journey of a writer in this course.

When you complete this program, you will be able to:

- Identify critical thinking and its components
- Distinguish between facts and opinions
- Identify the integral parts of the rhetorical situation
- Know how to begin writing

Publish Assignment Instructions

Descriptive Paragraph Final Draft
Assignment

Assignment: Write a descriptive paragraph describing a place, thing, or a person.

Instructions:

- Include a clear topic sentence that creates a single dominant impression.
- Make sure all sentences relate to the topic sentence.
- Arrange the details in a logical (such as spatial) order.
- Use nouns, verbs, and modifiers which are specific and appeal to the senses (sight, hearing, touch, taste, smell).
- Include a concluding sentence that "wraps things up."
- The paragraph needs to include at least seven sentences. There is no minimum word requirement, but adequately developing a paragraph means adding good, specific details.
- The final draft must follow the MLA format, including the heading format illustrated in 20190822MLASamplePaper.pdf
- The final draft should contain a minimum of grammar, usage, and punctuation errors.
- Do not look at any written sources or Internet sites to gather ideas for this paragraph

Use the feedback you have received from your peers and instructor to revise your paragraph. Then upload the final draft by Sunday 11:59 pm (US Central time).

Formative Feedback and Turnitin

Turnitin provides the tools for:
Checking for similarity and plagiarism
timely feedback (not weeks later)
specific and relevant feedback (tied to a specific task or product)

Actionable feedback (student writers should walk away with a clear idea of what they can DO in response to teacher feedback)

"Misleading Information"

In 1976, the controversy started between the Maudsley, Maudsley and Rabbitts Vaccination (MMR) and autism spectrum disorder (ASD) commonly referred to as autism. The study that took place in 1976, was a poorly performed study with many faults. From this study the connection was not only made but it turned into a major medical controversy: check effects thousands of parents and children every day. Throughout this almost twenty year span the MMR vaccination has caused serious medical controversies because of misinformation about the vaccination, serious side effects, and poorly conducted studies. However, there is no connection between MMR vaccine and autism.

One of the first and most apparent connections between MMR and autism is the time frame in which MMR is received and the symptoms of autism appear. In an article written by Frank DeStefano and Robert T. Chen titled, "Autism and Maudsley-Maudsley-Rabbitts Vaccination

Schedule Weekly Announcements

☐ Homework Week 5 Sep 12, 2019 11:36 AM - Published

Dear COMP 101 class,

The homework for Week 5 includes a discussion post in Forum 2: How does critical thinking relate to writing? that counts towards your final grade. You may either go to the discussion by clicking on the above link or go to the discussion link under the Communication tab and select Discussions. The deadline for the discussion post is Sunday 11:59PM. All that you need to do is answer the question in Forum 2 in 150 to 200 words.

Remember to bring a hard copy of your first Narration draft to class on Friday. You don't need to submit the essay until next Sunday; nevertheless, if you want to have a successful outcome, you must follow the steps in the writing process which include starting with the first draft before going to the final version of the writing.

☐ Homework Reminder! Sep 6, 2019 4:10 PM - Published

Hello class,

Just a quick reminder about the homework due this Sunday (Sept 8) before 11:59 PM: final draft of the descriptive paragraph submitted to dropbox in D2L and completion of the three sections of Quiz 2. I hope everyone has a great weekend, and I'm looking forward to seeing you on Monday!

☐ Week 4 Homework & Writing Center Sep 3, 2019 11:46 AM - Published

I hope everyone had a fantastic long weekend and is now returning with renewed energy levels to class!

The homework for Week 4 is to complete the three sections of Quiz 2: Thesis Statement, Topic Sentences, and Supporting Ideas and submit the final draft of your descriptive paragraph. The homework is due on Sunday at 11:59PM.

On Wednesday, we will look at the ways you can vary sentence structure when revising writing and start working on quiz 2.

On Friday, we won't meet in our usual classroom but instead, go to the Writing Center orientation in the Library.

See you on Wednesday!

Using the Weekly Content, you can create and schedule course announcements for each week to keep students on track.

Provide Dialogue Opportunities

Forum 1: What is your writing process?

Includes assessment.

Topic: The following recording features screenwriters sharing about their individual processes of developing a script, literally working their way through the notes to the final draft (YouTube link to LinkedIn Learning, From notecards to final draft - the) <https://youtu.be/D0Z7B8U> or watch the embedded video below. Listen carefully to each of the screenwriters describing their personal style of writing and determine which one is closest to your style. Discuss how your style compares or differs from any of the featured in the recording and suggest one tip that you find especially helpful when writing.

Directions: All of the discussion posts comprise 10% of the total grade calculation of the class. Submit your post before 11:59 PM Thursday (Aug 22) to receive the complete number of points.

You can post questions, embed available online videos, and build discussion forums in your course to supplement class discussions and extend opportunities for dialogue beyond the classroom.
